U.S. Invasion Of Mexico Is Urged

WILSON WILL REACH S. F. AUG. 15

Dreadnaughts Reach West Coast Today—Another Mexican Outrage—Congressional Recess Aug. 2—12 Killed On Navy Ship—Johnson Presides In Senate.

WASHINGTON, July 26.—Although the itinerary for the President's speaking tour throughout the country in behalf of the League of Nations was said to be practically complete and contemplated only one stop in California, San Francisco Senator Phelan of that state had an engagement to see Mr. Wilson today in an endeavor to induce him also to visit Los Angeles.

BIG PACIFIC SHIPS COME THRO CANAL

ABOARD THE U. S. S. NEW MEXICO, July 26.—Four dreadnaughts of the Pacific fleet, the New Mexico, Arkansas, Texas and New York were lifted successfully through the Gatun Locks today. This was the first attempt to negotiate the waterway with a fleet of dreadnaughts and tonight the warships are anchored in the fresh water of Gatun Lake, eighty-five feet above sea level.

WAR TAX REMOVAL FROM SOFT DRINKS

WASHINGTON, July 26.—The House Ways and Means Committee today voted to recommend the repeal of the 10 per cent soft drink war tax. Though no record vote was taken, Democratic members urged that all repeals be deferred until means for replacing the lost revenue were found.

SUMMER SIMMERINGS

Books are too high. Dime novels now cost $1.50. Prohibition has ruined business for the bootleggers. Cleverness and cussedness frequently goes arm and arm. The worst evils to threaten us are ourselves. It is the married man who thinks seriously of marriage. All's well that ends well if it pays well. Never put off till tomorrow those you can do today. Too many of us have millionaire dispositions. Don't learn shorthand unless you can think faster than longhand. Better walk a mile to avoid trouble than half that to find it. If she's a pretty woman, the attorney for the defense has a snap.

DEATH OF MRS. VAUGHN OCCURRED 'LAST NIGHT

Although not unexpected, the death of Mrs. Mattie Eleanor Vaughn, wife of City Treasurer Ira R. Vaughn, came last night as a shock to the family and friends. She has been ill for a year past and confined to bed for a month with an incurable ailment, and last evening took a sinking spell resulting in her passing away at 8 o'clock, at the family home, 1419 Bissell avenue.

Mrs. Vaughn was 37 years of age and a native of Virginia. She was a resident of Richmond for thirteen years and there are no children as an issue of her marriage. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Mitchell of Tulare, and the body will be shipped today Monday by Bert Curry, who has the arrangements in charge. The funeral services will be from the home of the parents in Tulare. The body is now at the family home here.

BIG ATHLETIC SHOW WAS SUCCESS

Large Crowd Greeted Boxing And Wrestling Tournament Last Night—Weather Bad But Show Good—Neat Sum Realized For Telephone Girls Benefit—All Satisfied.

The athletic carnival for the telephone girls' sick-benefit fund was staged last night at the First street ball grounds as per announcement. The program was carried out and the large crowd that attended received their money's worth. Dondos, the Greek wrestler, sponsored by Frank Schuler of San Francisco, failed to show, as did Schuler, but Al Hall showed a telegram from Schuler dated Friday night in which he promised to positively appear. If Schuler wants to revive the wrestling game in San Francisco and the East Bay cities he wants to cut out the "run-out" stuff. However, the exhibitions put on by the wrestlers from the San Francisco Y. M. C. A. and the Oakland boys more than made up for the non-appearance of Dondos. Al Hall and Sid Carter put on the best wrestling bout of the night. The Japanese Jiu Jitsu artists were well received, as was the "Josh" bout between Al Media and his "six-foot" opponent. All the contests were decided as draws, although there was some real slugging, especially in the Ortega-Drew set. Both boys are fast and willing to mix.

"Bill" Hennessy announced the matches through his mother-in-law's graphophone horn, borrowed for the occasion.

A neat sum was realized for the girls' sick-benefit fund and credit is due the committee who worked hard to make the affair the success it was. Al Hall was on the job as usual and worked like a Trojan, as did also P. G. Bechtel, head of the committee.

The weather was rather raw but the large crowd was good natured and stayed throughout the performance. Altogether the show was a very good one for a city the size of Richmond and the wonder is that it could have been arranged in the short time the boys had to work in. It was clean and entirely devoid of all features which sometimes make such exhibitions objectionable, especially to women. There was a goodly sprinkling of the fair sex present last night and they seemed to enjoy it as much as anybody.

FORESTERS MEETING

A special meeting of the Independent Order of Foresters was held Friday evening. Fifteen new members were initiated at this meeting by the San Francisco drill team. Among the prominent visitors were Supreme Vice Ranger Frank Hand and wife of Los Angeles, High Chief Ranger J. P. Murphy and wife of San Francisco and High Chief Secretary E. N. Cameron of San Francisco, besides many from Oakland, Berkeley and El Cerrito. Another initiation will be held on August 1st at Bank hall.

MICKIE SAYS

ABOUT 25 PER CENT TELEPHONE RATE RAISE

A raise of telephone rates went into effect yesterday around 10 o'clock, approximating about 25 per cent of the old rates. The scale was given out for San Francisco, where the coin boxes are used, but the Richmond rate has not been announced as yet, though doubtless will be by Monday. It will be close to a 25 per cent raise.

HARBOR BOND DISCUSSION MONDAY

City Council Meeting To Be Invaded Monday Night By Big Delegation of Citizens Who Want Bond Issue Submitted to Voters—Matter Is Not Unanimous, However.

The Harbor Commission, Merchants' Association, Richmond Industrial Commission and other prominent citizens are going to congregate at the Monday night meeting of the City Council and ask that a bond issue be submitted to the people for the purpose of acquiring the money necessary to go ahead with the Municipal Harbor work.

Other large interests are known to be against a bond issue, the same as they are always been against the harbor, from start to finish, because of selfish, or, rather, personal interests with which the municipal harbor project conflicts. Whether they will be at the meeting Monday evening is not stated, but presumably they will.

Thus the Council is sort of between the devil and the deep blue sea in this harbor matter, and with them it is damned if you do and damned if you don't. They may do as they please about it, and likely will, but the News advises at this time that in all such dilemmas the very best way in the world out of it is to pass the buck up to the people and let them decide what they want done. If the people want to vote on the issue, that is their privilege, and then if they vote the bonds, or turn it down, all well and good—the Council will then have done its plain duty and can then say to the people, you cannot blame us for we passed it up to you to decide, and you decided.

At any rate, the meeting Monday evening promises to be interesting and will be quite likely well worth going out to see and hear.

Advertising Rates Must Increase

Due notice is hereby given by the News that on August 1st all advertising rates are going to be raised. This is made necessary by the constantly increasing expense account with no corresponding increase for our product.

There is not a merchant in Richmond or anywhere else who will sell you anything at the same price he did before the war, yet that is just exactly what the newspapers have been doing all the time. They get no more for advertising or subscription than they did five years ago. This is unfair to the papers and must stop, and as far as the News is concerned it is going to stop the first of the month. This will, however, not effect existing contracts.

The News rates for advertising will then be 30c a column inch for one-time insertions; 25c for two times, same copy; 20c for three insertions and 15c for a week. Monthly rate will remain the same as now, 50c per column inch per month.

Reading notices will be 5c per line straight, if among classified ads, and 10c per line if among pure reading matter.

DAILY LOCAL LAFF

Pierce & Carlson, local attorneys, tell this one on each other. We do not know which of them are guilty, but probably both. At a cross-examination of a negro at a trial in Martinez recently the following came out:

"You are Sam Harrison?"

"Yes, sah."

"And you are the Sam Harrison who was sentenced for robbery?"

"No, sah. Ah'm not that Harrison."

"You are perhaps the Harrison who was sentenced to two years' imprisonment for grand larceny?"

"No, sah. Ah'm not that Harrison, either."

"Were you ever in prison?"

"Yes, sah."

"How long were you in there?"

"A whole afternoon."

"And for what?"

"Ah was whitewashin' a cell for a lawyer who had been locked up for contempt of coté."

WHY CAN'T RICHMOND GET SOME OF THIS?

Supervisor Charles A. Nelson, chairman of Mayor Rolph's food committee, announced that plans had been completed to place on sale to the public of San Francisco 2,000,000 pounds of government food stored in army warehouses.

The provisions will be sold to the consumer at cost, and the first lot consists of 6773 pounds of smoked bacon at 34 cents a pound and 10,704 cans of tomatoes at 13 3/4 cents.

The committee has arranged with the Emporium to handle the sales, which will be without profit to any one with the exception of the purchasers. The date of the first sale will be announced soon.

The bacon comes in eighteen-pound sides and will be cut in three-pound pieces.

The sale of the government goods is the result of an attempt on the part of city officials to help in reducing the high cost of living.

AUSTRALIAN P. O. RATE

The United States postoffice department is co-operating with the British government in maintaining the five-cent postage rate to Australia. For some time there has been agitation for the reduction of postage rates to the same basis—two cents—as that enjoyed by other British colonies. Australia is practically the only colonial division of the British Empire not enjoying the two-cent rate.

U. S. SOLDIERS MAY GO TO MEXICO

Texas Congressman Demands U. S. Invasion of Mexico And Withdrawal From Carranza of Recognition—House Applauds Demand And Cheers Allusion To Flag.

WASHINGTON, July 26.—Military occupation of Mexico by the United States was advocated by Representative Hudspeth, Democrat, Texas, in an address today in the House. He urged withdrawal of American recognition of the Carranza government and said American troops should be kept in Mexico until a stable government had been established.

"The time has arrived," declared Hudspeth, "when this Government should say to Carranza: 'You have not fulfilled your obligations in the protection of American lives.'"

After reading the resolution recently adopted by the Texas Senate, which asked the Federal Government either to use troops or permit the State to act, Hudspeth added:

"But that is not necessary. 'That flag,' he said, pointing to the Stars and Stripes hanging over the speaker's desk, 'is sufficient.' This remark, as also his declaration for military intervention, was applauded by the members. In urging military intervention, Hudspeth declared he was 'not a jingo' and that he only asked for the protection of American lives.

Young Girl Motors After One Lesson

Mr. J. J. Hutton of 518 12th street has just bought a Dodge Brothers touring car through the local agent, J. P. Strom. Mr. Hutton bought the car but his daughter Esther, who is only 15 years of age, runs the car like a veteran after only one lesson, which proves that the Dodge Brothers car is easily handled by the young as well as the old.

SUNDAY MORNING CHATS

You know, friends, that in this department the editor tries to emulate the example of Christ, as near as a poor sinner can, relative to cultivating and teaching things along the line of the Fatherhood of God and the Brotherhood of Man. That was the cardinal doctrine of the Thinkograph magazine which we were publishing until war conditions got so bad we could not make it go, and thirty thousand people over the country took that little booklet and said they liked it. Now we have another source going which spreads this doctrine which likely you did not know anything about, so we will tell you. Every Saturday a "dope sheet" is mailed from this office to several hundred newspapers all over the United States, containing our editorial writings. They pay us for this service, and the combined circulation of all those newspapers must be something enormous, so our goodly and Godly doctrine is being circulated among the people broadcast, besides those who read the News, and we have no end of proof that it does good. If it does good, then that pays us more than the money consideration, for we should all seek to accomplish some good in this world as we go along, in order to leave behind us "some foot-prints in the sands of time."

But, the way things are running just now, in the way of high cost of living, caused in the main by profiteering and other cussedness on the part of our fellow man, we feel more like slugging him under the left ear with a stout club or brickbat than trying to teach him anything like Christianity or even common decency. That is only a natural feeling, caused by unfair treatment from him, and doubtless most everybody else feels just about that way, more than otherwise, but we must all try as best we can to temper it with charity and consideration for the human failing of selfishness. Human nature is very selfish and always has been. So these vultures who are robbing their fellow men by profiteering are only displaying in a marked degree that inherent human selfishness. Some day, as time rolls on, let us hope, men will learn that human selfishness should be curbed, and that they have something more ennobling to live for than stealing a dollar out of the pocket of a neighbor.

In the meantime it is hard to dope out what ought to be done about it. There is and can be no doubt whatever but what the present ruinous prices of living are due to downright dishonesty upon the part of nearly everybody who handles the commodity. There is no other logical conclusion to arrive at. It is just as true that a sufficient number of lawmakers and public officials stand in on the deal and are paid, directly or indirectly, by the big trusts and corporations for so doing. At present there is no relief in sight, yet relief must come or the breaking point will be met, and then heaven only knows what will happen.

We suggest that some fifty millions of the American people flood Congress, the Senate and their state officials, including legislators, because extra sessions are soon to be held, with monster petitions, setting forth the unbearable conditions and demanding relief upon pain of political oblivion and defeat, unless something is done to relieve the strain and clear up the situation. We believe such a method will have much tendency to accomplish good. Let us try it.

In the meantime, if you go to church this morning or this evening, pray to the good Lord to eliminate some of the selfishness and dishonesty from the hearts of men. They need such prayers, and a lot of them need rough handling in the bargain.

The University of California is to institute a course of California history. That is good. Hope they pass it out to the press for publication. A lot of us are painfully ignorant on California history, and it is both romantic and interesting.

RICHMOND MUST COMPETE

We heard one man say on the street here that he wished the street car company instead of reducing the fare to Oakland would raise it to 50 cents; that the curse of the town was the fact that half the money earned in the manufacturing industries of Richmond was spent in Oakland and San Francisco, and that every pay day saw hundreds of men and their families boarding the street cars and taking their pay checks to other cities.

The fact is quite true, but the remedy does not lie in the direction of this man's thoughts. Following up that sort of logic one might as well advocate tearing up the tracks and having no outside communication whatever—build a Chinese wall around the town and allow no one to leave or enter. We can remember back in the early days of Kansas and Colorado when some people strenuously objected to the coming of the railroads because it would put the freighters out of business.

Richmond is only twelve miles from Oakland, a city of 200,000 inhabitants, and five miles beyond that is San Francisco, a metropolitan city of over half a million. Neither one of these cities are going to quit business or move away to leave the commercial field to Richmond. They were here first and have the prior right of location and pre-emption. Richmond is going to also be a metropolitan city; there is no longer any reasonable doubt of that whatever. In five years from now Richmond will have 50,000 inhabitants; in ten years 100,000, and in twenty years it will be as big or bigger than Oakland. Its deep water harbors on San Francisco bay make that fact patent to all students of such matters. This means that Richmond has got to compete with Oakland and San Francisco in all lines of commerce, and trade, and ultimately compete for supremacy. Just put that down as a fact, for fact it is, and then do your other calculating from that basis.

THINKOGRAPHS

Now is a good time for the girls to make their own dresses. The messier they look the more they are in style.

Which would a woman rather have: War with Mexico or the telephone ring when her hands are in the dough?

Men do not laugh and applaud a lot of old stale jokes and gags at a grape juice banquet as much as they do at the other kind of banquet.

As far as numbers and enthusiasm is concerned the Progressives seem to be progressing much after the manner of the crab or crawfish.

The average number of deaths in this old world each year is 47,372,727; thus about eighty or ninety persons have died while you were reading this item. Say! Come in and pay up that subscription to this paper before it is everlastingly too late!

The editor of the Oakland Tribune is all worked up over the fact that automobiles are honk-honking around the streets of Jerusalem. Better pay attention to dodging a few thousand whooping it up and down Broadway, Oakland, California, U. S. A.

The ship owners who are so crazy for free tolls are at liberty to bring their ships into the Richmond harbor free. We won't charge them a cent, except for dockage.

Congressman Curry's proposed amendment to the Constitution which would make it possible for the President to veto separate items of a bill passed by Congress is so reasonable that the wonder is that it was not proposed before and put through, truthfully notes the Oakland Tribune.

SENATE DEBATE NOT CONVINCING

COVENANT IS HUGE SUBJECT

Many Go Into Galleries of Senate to Listen to Debate on League of Nations and Come Away Unilluminated—Women Show Interest.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.
Washington.—The senate of the United States these days is literally an international debating society with a national setting. The representatives of a nation are discussing proposed relations with virtually all the other nations on the face of the earth. The senate is an interesting place, but admittedly it is a place where one cannot get the full light of conviction.

The man with an open mind on the subject of the League of Nations who goes into the senate galleries to get the illumination of conviction has his troubles. Within an hour the League of Nations covenant first will be pronounced the world's greatest document, "marking the beginning of a new and better order in world's affairs," and then denounced as "a pact which if given the life of law will undermine Americanism, destroy nationalism and bring war and tumult into the world."

Men have come to Washington to listen to the debates of the League of Nations and gone away saying: "We must make up our minds for ourselves." It is a huge subject, this League of Nations, and no one knows it better than those devoted ones who have read it as one United States senator was said to have read the Bible, "from kiver to kiver."

When a printed copy of the covenant and the peace pact is read section by section, and an application is had of the multitudinous national interests involved, it is easy enough to understand why criticism should pause concerning the length of time which it took the conference in Paris to reach its decision.

Fall to Get Light.
There are persons who go into the galleries of the senate to listen to the debate and who come away unilluminated, and who because of the tortuous paths of the arguments are willing to leave the following of them to the senators, and to shift the responsibility from their shoulders to those of the men who are entrusted with the business of making decisions in high matters of state.

The galleries of the senate today are interesting places, interesting in part because of the diversified natures of those who attend the daily sessions. Scores upon scores of men and women go to the galleries for one day and leave with the decision not to return.

There are scores of others, however, who return day after day to listen to the senators on this side and to the senators on that side, enjoying the debate for the very warmth of it and probably hoping that some day a spark will fly which will supply light sufficient for the gallery student to see his own way clear to an opinion on this world pact.

Perhaps it is the fact that enfranchisement has come to them in so large a degree recently that makes the women journey to the galleries in far greater numbers than the men. It has been noticeable in the senate, and in the house, too, for that matter, in recent months that the women are showing a strong interest in matters of legislation and of government generally.

Wrath Hits Them.
There are in the gallery day by day many men and women whose minds already are made up. They are the ones whose enthusiasms get away from them once in a while, and who by their demonstrations call down upon their heads the wrath of the vice president, or the president pro tempore, whichever happens to be presiding.

It is against the rules of the senate to evidence vocally or by hand clapping or foot-stamping, approval or disapproval of anything which is said on the floor. Once in a while the galleries are cleared by order of the vice president because of these demonstrations.

One of the elements which enters into the senate today to make the situation perplexingly interesting is the fact that among the opponents of the treaty of the League of Nations there is a score or two of reasons for opposition, some of them diametrically opposed to the others. The result of this is one hears 20 different reasons why something should be done, or should not be done, and more than occasionally some of these reasons are at loggerheads with the other reasons, although all are intended to effect the same general purpose.

There are several pots of pepper in the senate dish today, while sugar is noticeable by its absence. Spicy debates are ten times as interesting as sugary debates. Occasionally senators reach beyond the pepper pot for the vitriol bottle. When this happens there is likely to be trouble. Senators have come closer recently to passing by the retort courteous for the lie direct than is altogether safe from dignity's standpoint. All of these things, however, add to the general joy of the galleries, for the galleries frequently hold those unregenerate ones who delight in a row.

Contra Costa county should feel proud toward the part she has done in the world war, as her military force was 2023. This is the report of Adjutant General J. J. Borree in a recent publication of a bulletin published by the state committee on readjustment.

CONTRA COSTA COUNTY COMMENT

ANTIOCH'S BOOZE TROUBLES.

A few saloonmen were present upon invitation of the town officials and Chairman LaMontagne asked them what they desired to do regarding continuing in business and whether they would apply for a return of the money paid for licenses should they continue.

At first Harry Goldenhar said he could see no future for the liquor business and thought he would ask for the return of his money, but later changed his mind and said he would continue and take a chance.

John Arata said that as the soft drink business was not profitable he would ask for a return of his license money which had been paid only recently. He also inquired the cost of a soft drink license and was informed all business licenses were to be raised enough to make up for the loss of the income from saloons and no one knew as yet what amount would be needed to make up the deficit.—Antioch Ledger.

PITTSBURG CITY MANAGER.

Speaking of the meeting of the town trustees, the Pittsburg Dispatch says: Trustee McFaul also introduced an ordinance creating the office of City Manager. Various powers are delegated to this official under the ordinance, which will be passed at the next meeting of the board. He will have the power to remove all appointive officers, instruct them as to their duties and see that they carry out same, make all purchases, etc.

BRENTWOOD AIR SERVICE.

Brentwood received her first aerial mail service last Sunday afternoon, when two Stockton papers were dropped on the Oak Street Garage.

The second delivery was made Monday evening, when George Curtis received a special letter dropped in the ally near Hotel Brentwood by Editor Harry Hammond of the Byron Times, who made the trip between the two cities over the air route.—Brentwood News.

GOOD ROADS WORK.

Surveyors have been at work the past week outlining the route of the new highway from Martinez to Concord, which is to be built under the county bond issue.

The road is to cut off south of the Loucks place, go through the Anderson and Loucks land and down the main street of Pacheco. In this way the bad turns that are now in the road will be eliminated.—Concord Transcript.

CONCORD IS BUILDING.

M. E. Lyon, owner of the Concord Inn property, was in town last week looking into the proposition of building on the site that has been occupied only by ruins since the lamentable fire of over two years ago. The Transcript says it is his intention to erect three modern stores and probably a garage on the lot.

BIG MONEY FARMING.

Jim Hanlon expects to market $17,000 worth of wheat this season. This is what he told the Pittsburg Dispatch. This figure is based on a price of $4.50 while the government price is $5.00 per sack. In making his estimate, Mr. Hanlon has conceded everything, so that if there is any difference, they will be in his favor. In other words, he may receive $20,000 for his wheat, instead of $17,000. Besides the wheat, he has some 150 tons of hay to market.

HERCULES ROAD BUILDING.

Bates, Borland and Ayres have been awarded the contract for the construction of a concrete highway through the town limits of Hercules. There were several bidders on the work. This is a stretch of a mile and the contract was let for about $20,000.

CONTRA COSTA SOLDIERS.

Contra Costa county should feel proud toward the part she has done in the world war, as her military force was 2023. This is the report of Adjutant General J. J. Borree in a recent publication of a bulletin published by the state committee on readjustment.

I am a dentist who advertises because I can and actually do as I advertise. I give you my word of honor that every letter in this ad. is the truth. I advertise surely. I am a dentist, and not ashamed of it. PAW TOMMYROT WASN'T GOING IN—BUT

SNICKS IS WINNER; SNOOKS IS JEALOUS

Snicks and Snooks, with Sister Sue.
That dainty little lass.
Are starting off this summer day
To go to dancing class.

Now, Dorothea, the pretty dear,
Was liked by Snicks and Snooks.
Said Snooks, "I'll get to dance with her,
Just see how sweet she looks!"

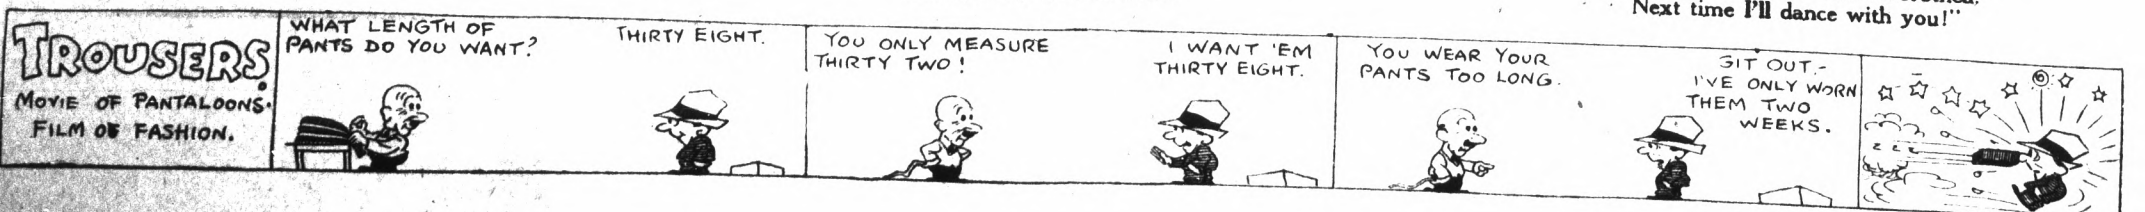

The teacher said to Dorothea
"Now you may dance with Snicks,
For you and he dance best of all."
Said Snooks, "Those two I'll fix!"

Now Dorothea and little Snicks
Danced all around the floor.
Said Snicks, "I love to dance with you—
Let's tango round some more."

So round they went and danced so well,
Just tripping on their toes.
But naughty Snooks, he went outside
And quickly got the hose!

When they got where the window was
The bad boy drenched them through
"Ha! ha!" he cried; "Miss Dorothea,
Next time I'll dance with you!"

Hats and Parasols Interpret Summer

Hats and parasols that interpret mid-summer—and make us long to have them always with us—are here. It is glorious summer and headwear hints of every outdoor pleasure. Brimmed hats and parasols, not much more substantial looking than white clouds, cast pleasant shadows over eyes that feast themselves upon the out-of-doors. It is impossible to crowd more than three or four of these summer inspirations into one picture, but the group above manages to include some typical and very beautiful styles in the present season's offerings.

Beginning with the parasol, it is a white silk affair, with white enameled wood handle, such as may be found in the stores everywhere and every summer; for it is always good style.

It is stenciled with lavender wisteria in a wreath about it, but the resourceful woman who wishes to may stencil it with any other flower or with a flight of birds. And don't overlook the fact that a white parasol throws a flattering light upon the face.

At the left of the group, one of those glorified sport styles, known as veranda hats, is shown. It is made of row on row of narrow satin ribbon, with little figures woven in it. They appear to be those two mascots known as Nanette and Rintintin, now that peace has arrived, settled down to domestic joys. Such hats are at once smart and informal. At the right the always welcome wide-brimmed leghorn hat is pictured, with a facing of georgette crepe and an upper brim edged and ornamented with tuscany braid. Maidenhair fern and little braid blossoms stray over the crown, and a sash of velvet ribbon makes a proper finale to this favored midsummer composition.

Alriest and most picturesque of summer hats is shown at the bottom of the group. It is a poke bonnet shape with brim of hair braid and crown of georgette crepe, with roses and foliage chambering over it. There is nothing so good, for a finishing touch, as the sash of velvet ribbon—that is tied about the crown.

Julia Bromley

For Plain Sailor Hat.

Black bonnaz embroidery in Moorish design ornaments a plain sailor hat of jade green Baronette satin. The brim of this hat rolls upward slightly and embroidery is placed on the underbrim as well as on the crown. Brown caterpillar straw faces the brim of a pink taffeta hat and the brown straw is embroidered in pink silk with a loose looped stitch.

APPEARANCES DO COUNT.

It will be remembered that in this department a Richmond lady made complaint recently of discourteous treatment she received in an Oakland store because she was not "all dolled up," or words to that effect. Clare Davis, a prominent California writer, takes it up in the Stockton Record, as follows:

"The Richmond News tells of a lady who returned from a visit to a large city, where she did some shopping, and complained of the kind of service she got. This she attributed to the fact that she was not dressed stylishly enough. She had on a shirtwaist and skirt of refined appearance and excellent quality. But as she failed to present herself in the latest type gown, the clerks, as she believed, were discourteous and inattentive.

"There's no doubt there is something in this. Even one's friends seem a little gladder to see one on the days when one is looking one's best as to clothes. The people on the street are a little more cordial in their nods and bows and smiles on the days when one is conscious of being well and attractively dressed.

"It works both ways. One likes to go into a store, a bank, an office that looks attractive and prosperous. Even if it is only to pay a bill, one likes the feeling of dealing with well kept offices, stores and so on.

"The world gravitates to success. This is so well established that a man out looking for a job knows he must put on the best business suit he has, be well shaved, well groomed, if he expects to land anything.

"Girls and women employed in any capacity that brings them in touch with the public are expected to dress with care and look as well as possible. With all this dependence on the impression made by clothes, all the wild stampede of women to expensive clothes, all the respect the world pays to success and money, it is not strange if clerks absorb some of the snobbish attitude so large a portion of the world assumes and overlook the customer who doesn't advertise herself as ready money, position or affluence.

"Sometimes they get this attitude from the head of the establishment. I have myself seen a clerk abruptly excuse himself from an ordinary customer to go to announce to the head of the store that Mrs. Blank in her limousine was approaching the portals. Instant business of boss moving to front door of store, rubbing his hands unctuously to greet a wealthy customer at entrance and give her most distinguished personal consideration.

"If one is an interested looker-on in Venice with a grain of humor in one's make-up, one grins appreciatively at life's little flubdubs. If one is like the Richmond lady, one gets 'sore.' There is no doubt clerk gave the alarm because of instructions previously given by the boss, and this is bound to give the rest of the clerks a feeling that the people to look after carefully are the ones who have the money.

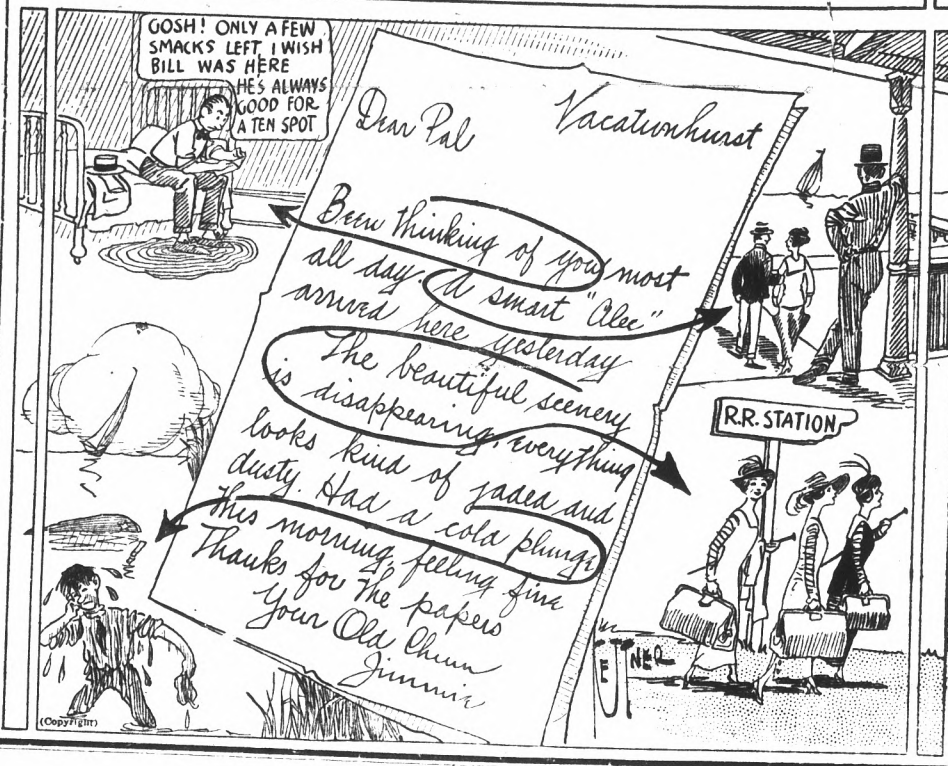

"But isn't there another side to this whole business? Hasn't the attitude of the customer something to do with the attention she gets? If he thinks she looks 'tacky' as compared with others and shrinks into the background instead of bracing up to her rightful place at the counter and claiming her turn, of course, nobody is going to force her forward.

"Those days when folks seemed gladder to see us on the street—wasn't it largely because our consciousness of looking well gave us a cordial, assured look into the face of the world that invited response or attention?

"Those days when it looked as if somebody tried to avoid speaking, weren't we shrinking into ourselves, not really wanting to be seen on Main street, our souls sneaking along and inviting snubs because we were conscious of a shirtwaist not strictly fresh or a tout ensemble that we just plain hated ourselves?

"Don't blame business for this. It is simply human nature. You've got it yourself. Even if it is only a tramp at the back door, you know mighty well you'd rather give a handout to the one who tells you in a few crisp sentences that he is broke and hungry than to one who sneaks timidly to the door with a handbag look and mumbles his request. We'll call it psychology and let it go at that."

The Shepherd Of The Hills

The introduction of this most popular American novel into the world of motion pictures is causing a sensation, in a field where the ability to produce the best has long ago been raised to the "nth power." The filmatization has been directed by Harold Bell Wright, its author, personally, and is on at the Richmond theatre Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

As a novel and a play the work is known to countless millions and with the aid of the camera, Mr. Wright has visualized his great mind pictures as no mere words could ever do. All those who are familiar with the book—who have seen the beloved characters on the stage can readily understand how these real flesh and blood people under the wizardry of the camera and the great imaginative genius of their author should make a picture drama of absorbing interest. Given the subject matter contained in the "Shepherd of the Hills," the direction of the author, together with the unlimited possibilities of the motion picture camera and there is a combination which will make a production bound to create a furore in the amusement loving world.

Oakland "Finds" $500 Worth Opium

In a "vacant" store at 819 Webster street, declared by operatives of the state board of pharmacy to be the property of Gee Sam Kee, most important of the celestial witnesses in the graft trials, six Chinese were arrested and $500 worth of opium, and various articles of smoking equipment were confiscated in a spectacular raid yesterday at Oakland.

A secret panel, cleverly hidden from detection and discovered only by careful tapping of the wall by members of the raiding party, was smashed open. It was there that the big cache of opium, two opium pipes and several lamps were found, according to Inspector A. C. Favatt and D. M. Rue of the state board of pharmacy and Officers Feeley and Connolly.

James Heffert returned last evening from Guerneville, where he has been on vacation and having a good outing.

Albert Mejia, the bantam weight scrapper, sure did put up a game fight at the show last night. He weighs but 115 and the big welter-weight champ he went up against, Fargas, 145 pounds, was a tough proposition, but Mejia kept him pretty well winded.

At request of Mr. Perry of the Bulletin the street department put a rubbish can at 16th street and the avenue, for the scrap paper and litter. Everybody takes the Bulletin and News now.

OODLES OF MELONS

The watermelon man is in town—and some rushing business he is doing. His car, of the side door Pullman variety, is on the S. P. siding looking the Sunday picnicers square in the face; incidentally the small boys are on the job. On Monday noon the handler of the melons, Ed. Carlson of Turlock, will take a road but to the Standard Oil. He did a big business in Richmond yesterday and brought the prices down materially.

A GOOD POINTER FOR GOV. STEPHENS

Declaring that a "crisis is ahead" demanding drastic action upon the part of the State, the Governor in a letter to Attorney General Price ordered him to set in motion all agencies of the State in a general probe of food conditions and prices. The governor's action followed a preliminary investigation as a result of which Governor Cox declared:

"I have no hesitation in saying that there are evidences of unlawful practices in the traffic of food-stuffs."

Vaudeville Today At The Richmond

A very wisely selected and well balanced vaudeville bill has been secured for the Sunday program of the Richmond theatre.

The bill is headed by "The Aerial Snells," with a petite young woman of exceedingly prettiness in face and figure and a stalwart built young man, both athletes extraordinary. Who present an offering called "A Fast, Snappy Gymnastic Act," consisting of a line of feats which they exhibit on Roman rings suspended from a cross bar.

Baker-Vine and Baker have a melodious act with instrumental and vocal music.

Shimmie Dance Not Divorce Cause

Indulgence in the shimmie does not constitute grounds for divorce, according to Superior Judge A. S. St. Sure, of Oakland, who yesterday denied a decree to the Rev. Joseph M. Callender, negro evangelist of Alameda. The pastor complained that his wife neglected her home to dance the shimmie at the Bencroft Club, San Francisco.

GERMAN POSTAL SERVICE

Word has been received by the local postoffice that Postmaster General Burleson has rescinded the order prohibiting the exchange of mails between the two countries. Since April 7, 1917, it has not been possible to communicate, except to prisoners of war, to persons within the former German empire.

GERTRUDE HOFFMAN HAS DISAPPEARED

NEW YORK, July 26.—Gertrude Hoffman, known on two continents for her dancing, is missing. Her husband, Max Hoffman, today employed private detectives to trace her. The dancer disappeared Wednesday night, leaving her husband in Fifth avenue, to enter a drug store to make a purchase. When she did not reappear Hoffman investigated and found no trace of her.

Gertrude Hoffman is a San Franciscan and began her stage career here as a member of the chorus of the old Tivoli Theatre when she was Kitty Hayes. She has appeared here frequently since then, usually at the head of her own company, in spectacular dance productions.

EXQUISITE ROBE FOR BRIDE

Romance might well be the name of this delicate robe de chambre for the bride. It is pale blue georgette with a quaint apron of lace and sun-glow rose at the waist. Its airy softness best suits the curves of the body.

WHEN FASHIONS COME BACK

After Styles Have Had Their Day They Usually Return for Another Tryout.

All modes have their entrances and their exits, but they seldom if ever leave the stage of fashion never to return. After their brief run as headliners they retire from the boards, it is true, but as a rule only temporarily. If we wait long enough, back they come—and with increased popularity. For instance, once upon a time every well-dressed maid and matron knew how to develop the bust in intricate designs in knitting and crocheting, and then for a number of years anyone who did profess a fondness for and showed a deftness in this sort of work was termed "old-fashioned."

The war, however, created a need that only knitted garments could fill, and for patriotic reasons every woman was willing and anxious to become adept with the knitting needle.

The signing of the armistice resulted in lessening the demand for knitted wear to a great degree, but women are not giving up their interest in old-time arts so quickly. Once more the craft of the crochet hook is coming into its own.

Not only are women going back to the methods of their grandmothers and working out all sorts of novel ideas for household linen and home decoration, but they are using crochet work as a simple means to an effective end in personal adornment.

Could anything be more attractive than this smock? Fashioned in a bottle-blue crepe, crocheted medallions of blue and green and a crocheted edge give the blouse an air quite out of the ordinary. Incidentally, the smock blouse is quite the thing to don for afternoons at home. It is both chic and "comfy."
